

ROYAL ADHESIVES & SEALANTS ACQUIRES EXTREME ADHESIVES

Acquisition Builds on Royal's Strong Position in the assembly, maintenance and repair market

SOUTH BEND, IN, April 27, 2012— Royal Adhesives & Sealants (Royal) a portfolio company of Arsenal Capital Partners (Arsenal) and Extreme Adhesives today announced that Royal will acquire Extreme Adhesives.

Based in Raymond, NH, Extreme Adhesives is a premier supplier of methyl methacrylate, anaerobic and cyanoacrylate adhesives to the assembly, maintenance and repair, and architectural and building markets. The acquisition builds on Royal's strong platform of leading adhesives, sealants and coatings and allows clients of both companies to benefit from an expanded range of customized and proprietary solutions.

"We are excited to add Extreme Adhesives' market-leading products to our growing platform, and welcome Extreme's employees and clients to the Royal family," said Ted Clark, Chief Executive Officer of Royal. "As a leading producer of high-performance adhesives, sealants and coatings, we look forward to working with the Extreme team to advance our combined product portfolio and expand our presence in the assembly, maintenance and repair markets."

Timothy Zappala, a Partner at Arsenal Capital said, "Extreme has a long history of innovative service, application methods and product performance in the fast growing assembly, maintenance and repair, and architectural markets and combined with Royal we will expand the sales of their innovative products both nationally and internationally."

Extreme Adhesives' Partners Jim Yeames and Dave Galpin stated, "We are pleased that after spending the last 25 years building our company, that we have found a new owner committed to investing in building the Extreme Adhesives branded products nationally and internationally." Messrs. Yeames and Galpin will continue with the company during the transition and will thereafter become consultants to Royal.

Arsenal Capital acquired Royal in 2010 and since then has worked closely with management to grow the company organically and through targeted acquisitions. Shortly after completing that transaction, Royal acquired Para-Chem, a leading provider of specialty adhesives, coatings and polymers. In 2011 Royal acquired Craig Adhesives, a premier supplier of ultraviolet light cured adhesives and coatings.
